

Intelligence Management provides complete coverage to help partners in managing their document and record management areas starting from content-capturing and workflows up to the storage and retrievals, along with their analytics and information services.

CAPTURING INFORMATION VALUE ← — .

Increased volumes, business and organizational growth directly impact data and record keeping and management which require new/ improved processes not just to manage efficient operations but also to comply with regulatory and industry requirements. The quality of data or record storage and its workflows has significant impact on the operational risk measures and eventually customer relationship management. It needs special measures and suitable documents records and data management strategies.

Our technology and management experts take this domain very seriously and help partners adapting new practices and taking appropriate measures according to their geographical, organizational, transactional and industry growth and requirements.

— — — → SERVICE DIFFERENTIATION

Intelligence Management consultants always consider making assure of:

- Proficient record and document management
- Revision Control
- Comprehensive Workflow
- Document Security
- Secure Web Collaboration
- Efficient response in customer convenience
- Improved user Experience

